BECAUSE . . .

we believe there is no greater cause than the one for which we are fighting and that this cause is best symbolized by the flag which waves in the hearts of the fighting men and women of America—

BECAUSE . . .

we are proud of our idealism and would always keep before us the high standards set by the fathers of our country,

BECAUSE . . .

long ago, in another period of chaos and destruction, a young man, inspired by the indestructibility of his flag and his country, transposed this faith into a beautiful, stirring poem, with his words, Francis Scott Key laid the foundation for our patriotic way of life, we present them as we interpret them day by day in our school — the words of the immortal Star-Spangled Banner.

BECAUSE . . .

SENIOR

With the approach of June, the minds of 280 seniors turned from exciting graduation plans to ponder over the busy days of their final year.

Through their thoughts drifted memories of . . . the class election in October . . . the senior play, "The Poor Nut", on December 4 and 5 . . . the Senior Mixer on February 26 when everyone wore their appropriate class colors of red, white, and blue . . . the class motto, "Success is not given, but earned" . . . the two social affairs in May, the Damsels' Drag and the Junior-Senior Prom.

These experiences symbolized the care-free American life which was expressed in the words of the class song ". . . We won't forget the fun or friends we had here; they will always be part of a memory book in which we will often look in years to follow forty-three."

ATHLETICS

Whose Broad Stripes and Bright Stars

. . . although the accomplishments are gained merely on a high-school gridiron or court, their stars also represent a job well-done and a victory on the field of battle . . .

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ Through the FOOTBALL

Coach Vanderbush was greeted by the usual big turn-out in September for the football team, and during the first week the group was divided into two squads.

A big problem was faced in making a new team. With only six letter-men returning there was the large task of forming a clicking eleven equal to that of last year's team.

For the first game, the Trojans traveled to Big Rapids and piled up a 13-0 decision over a small but scrappy team. In this game the boys came up to typical Trojan standard. The next game with Creston was postponed because of a muddy field and bad weather conditions.

Catholic Central was next to meet the Trojans, and after two weeks of practice, the squad was ready, willing, and able to take a victory over the city rival. An intercepted pass in this game proved disastrous, and in the final moments of the game a futile attack was staged to score, but the game ended 13-6 with the Trojans on the short end.

Perilous Fight ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

TEAM

South really took a tumble against the Wildcats of Davis Tech, and because of a bad case of fumbling, the Trojans lost by a 26-0 decision.

The Ottawa Indians were South's next big opponents, but the hard fought game ended with Ottawa having a lead of 14-7.

The following tussle was with the Central Hilltoppers who were one of the city's outstanding teams. Even though the game ended 2-0 in favor of the Hilltoppers, South proved to the spectators that they hadn't lost their fighting spirit. Central got their two points in the mid-part of the first half when a quick kick was blocked on the Trojan 10-yard line. South attempted a place-kick in the third quarter, but it was unsuccessful. Many remarks were made that this was the best game of the year.

Flint Northern, one of the outstanding teams in the state, was chosen as the opponent for the Trojan eleven. A small crowd witnessed one of the best showings the Southites had made all year when they battled to a 14-0 decision with this strong outside team. The Northern team gained their advantage of 14 points when several long punts by Hamilton, Negro back of Flint, put South in the hole early in the game.

South met their next down-fall when they bowed to Fordson to the tune of 20-0. South held the Detroit team scoreless until the last half of the second quarter when the outside team opened a 60-yard drive using surprising feats of play. The outside team scored again in the third quarter and in the last minutes of play.

The next game was dropped to Creston by a score of 14-7. The game was played on a muddy field, and using the South mistakes to advantage, Creston eluded would-be tacklers to trot down the sidelines to score the first tally. A few plays later when an attempt was made to kick out of danger, the kick was blocked, and a Creston player fell on the ball for another score, making the tally 14-0 on the Polarbears' side. The third quarter, a South back was able to take a pass and score for South standing up. South dominated the rest of the game and threatened to score, but the stubborn defense of Creston held firm. In the last half the Trojans showed their usual comeback, but again it came too late.

November 25 found the Trojans looking forward to a victory over their city rival, Union, in the annual Turkey Day clash. Going into the game, the South team was rated as the underdogs, but as the game proceeded, South showed the fighting spirit that it had acquired in the years before. The game was fought on a snow-covered field to a scoreless tie. Both teams threatened their opponent's goal as the game went on, but neither team was able to score the fatal blow. In the first half, both teams centered their attack around ground play, only to find it was useless because of the slippery field. Finding ground tactics no good, each team took to the air in a duel that lasted until the end of the game. Having been taken by surprise, the Union squad fought for every inch of ground possible. In their final game, South showed their opponents that in spite of the disastrous season which they had gone through they still had their fighting spirit.

BASKETBALL

When Coach "Pat" Patterson issued his first call for basketball he was greeted by a great many veterans. Prospects looked very bright and hopes for a championship were running high in the South High camp. Opening the season at Holland, South lost to Holland Christian, 24-21. These two teams have played a total of six games in the last six years, with South winning honors in three of these contests.

South travelled all the way to Saginaw for their next game, only to be soundly trounced by the state champions of last year.

After two disastrous starts, the Trojans turned their sights on their first city league foe, Ottawa. Due to inability to hit the basket and lack of team play, South lost 34-38.

The Red and Blue came to life in their next encounter to wallop Central 41-26. Victory was shortlived, however, and South bowed to a tall Creston team 27-23.

Resuming their winning ways, the Trojans won three straight games. Union was the first victim, 37-31. The game was of the nip-and-tuck variety right up until the closing minutes. Both teams played topnotch basketball throughout the contest.

Tech, recognized as the team to beat in the city title race, was knocked off by the South cagers in a thrilling over-time struggle 35-33. For the first four minutes there was no score in the game. The game was a battle all the way through.

Riding high now, South proceeded to administer a clean-cut victory over Catholic Central 38-33. By beating Catholic, South managed to stay among the leaders in the local prep race, because Central and Davis Tech also subdued their foes to bring about a three-way tie for league leadership.

In the Catholic Central game, Bob Keena and Al Koning had played their last game. Coach Patterson had a big job trying to find a new combination to equal their power and speed. He wasn't entirely successful and South lost to a supposedly weak Christian team, and lost again the following week to Ottawa.

Improvement was shown, however, in the game against Central the following week. Although the Trojans lost 45-42, they had held the lead throughout the early stages of the game. The next game was also a loss, this time to Ottawa, with a score of 35-21.

The following week, South ended their season schedule with a victory over Union. Although the whistle at the half found Trojans ahead by 15 points, the Redhawks showed some excellent ball-playing and nearly caught up. The game ended with South leading 32-26.

With the city championship going to Davis Tech and South lodged in a tie with Ottawa for fourth place, the team began pointing toward the city tournaments as a chance to gain revenge for previous defeats. The Trojans drew the Central Hilltoppers as opponents in their first contest. The game, although it ended in defeat for the Trojans, was a very fast-action encounter and proved to be a good climax for the season.

South completed the "league season" with five wins and six losses. The team scored a grand total of 437 points to their opponents 473 points.

Co-captains for the year were two senior boys, Bob Taylor and Jerry Anderson. Letter-winners for the season were as follows: Bob Bright, Bob De Ridder, Wendell Jones, Roland Olson, Duane Miller, Sid Freedman, Ken Kornoelje, Pete Lomonoco, Bob Taylor, and Gerry Anderson. Managers Gerry Johnson and Corny Frens also won their major letters. Jones, Kornoelje, and Lomonaco were the only returning juniors.

TRACK TEAM

Starting his twenty-fifth year as coach of South track, Coach Percy Churm was greeted in his first drill early in March by a turnout of 80 boys, including nine lettermen from last year. The boys returning from last years' squad were well distributed among the many events. The veterans showed good form and several new boys showed promising ability in their events.

"Pop" Churm, widely known as an expert in track coaching, set to work to build a team that would add to his string of championships and again put South into top place among the local track teams.

The first practices were held in the halls of the school and later, the weather permitting, the squad was taken outside to the regular trainging place, South field.

South was faced with a tough schedule starting April 16, with Ottawa and ending May 28. In the first week, against a green squad from Ottawa, the South thinclads overwhelmingly defeated the Indians 71-33.

Because of last years' disappointing season, this years' track squad was keyed up for revenge and had high hopes for bringing the championship back to South.

BASEBALL TEAM

Coach "Jake" Brady took over the reins of the South High baseball squad in the absence of Coach Al Vanderbush, and in late March attempted to build a winning team out of four returning lettermen and about 30 new boys.

First drills were held in the gym, but later Coach Brady took the squad to Garfield Park to practice.

Brady's big problem was to build an outfield and a capable pitching staff. Competition was strong in both, so he was assured of good showing in those lines.

The team had a big task before them to defend the title which the team of 1924 had captured.

This year's season promised to be a close and a very interesting race for top honors. In the early stages of the season, it looked as if the title would be fought for chiefly between South, Creston, and Catholic.

South got off to a fast start by taking Christian 13-2 and Central 4-1. The next game was dropped to Creston in 12 inning, 6-5. Union then tripped South 7-4. South then pulled out of their slump by beating Tech. 8-2.

Coach Brady had two objectives for baseball this year. One was to make a winning ball club which would bring a championship to South. The other was to put the boys in shape for the armed forces for which many would leave immediately following graduation.

FOOTBALL MANAGERS

Being a manager of a football team was a job which required almost as much work as the actual playing. Their glory was not as great nor their efforts as noticeable, but each fellow who earned a major letter as a football manager was proud of it as a symbol of the great amount of work he had done.

They were indespensable to the team, and the success of a game was partially due to their management.

TENNIS TEAM

Despite the shortage of equipment due to wartime restrictions, the tennis team got under way in the middle of April. Mr. Lester De Koster, coach, was greeted by a good turn-out of 25 prospective players, including three veterans of last year, Mitchell Laham, Bob Catlin, and George Bonemer.

Faced with a full schedule of seven matches, the team set out with a "bouncing" start to fight for the tennis title.

CHEERLEADERS

The cheerleaders were faced with a serious problem this year to keep the South High spirit up while the teams went down in defeat. The cheerleaders, as a team, scored an overwhelming victory for they succeeded in keeping South's spirit on par with former years in which the school had championship teams.

South took their hats off to these boys who were out on the gridiron or the basketball court doing their best at all times.

Faculty and Basketball Managers

Working under the faculty supervision of Mr. Harold Buckham, athletic manager, and Mr. Oscar Schopmeyer, elegibility manager, the student manages of the various sports did an especially good job this year.

Their duties were to see that all of the necessary equipment was ready for use and to account for every piece of equipment when the contest was over. All of the managers gave their time and efforts unselfishly to accomplish their important tasks.

G I R L S '

During the past two semesters, the girls' sports activities of South High were greatly affected by the war. Because the shortage of instructors gave Miss Ina Krumheuer the full responsibility of the girls' gym classes, eleventh and twelveth grade girls were unable to have physical education. Although archery was held during the activity period, all other after school sports were suspended.

This year the annual girls' meet was again discontinued because of the increased war responsibilities of Miss Krumheuer, who took an active part in the city's war program by teaching first aid.

Gym classes for grades seven through ten were held twice a week. One day was devoted to sports and the other to rhythm work. Each class was divided into squads. From each squad girls were chosen to see that the equipment for the various sports was properly distributed. These sports consisted of badminton, table tennis, paddle tennis, deck tennis, bowling and volley ball. In the rhythm classes the girls were taught early American folk dances that promoted grace of movement. By introducing calisthenics into the girls' athletic program, Miss Krumheuer taught coordination and good posture.

The girls who went out for archery this year were seriously handicapped because of the extremely long winter. During this time, their activities were confined to the girls' gym where they were only able to shoot at a distance of 20 yards. When spring came, they began practice at the football field to get in trim for competition with archers all over the United States. This competition was carried on by a very unusual system. Every school held its own contest, the results of which were sent by mail to various schools in many different states throughout the country. The South High archers have always been able to maintain a good average even though they compete with girls from warm Souther states where archery practice is held out of doors all year around.

The faculty of South High school, our bulwarks of democracy, have guided and will continue to guide students to be reliant and self-contained in a world which will require the best possible instruction and thought, for reconstruction and rehabilitation. Helping to advance students toward this common goal is the purpose of the departments of literature, science, and the arts.

The first division in the literature group is the English department of which Miss Agnes Linsley is the head for the school year, 1943. In classrooms where a smattering of Shakespeare, Tennyson, and grammatical construction can be heard, the student gets not only a fundamental knowledge of the English language but also an opportunity to study the masterpieces of literature. The latter are classified under the headings middle English, modern English, and American writings.

Special English courses, under the direction of Miss Lucy Reed, have proved advantageous to seniors desiring a college education.

Journalism, under the direction of Miss Thelma Anton, has provided an additional interest to students this year preparing them with a prerequisite for further study of this fascinating subject. Another individual department, but none the less important, is guidance, of which Miss Marjorie Shepard is in charge. She has given long hours to student problems, the unraveling of delinquency mysteries, and generally serving as friend to many. Miss Shepard was also the torch bearer of the activity program which has created city-wide comment, giving to students incentive to develop hobbies, talents, and aptitudes.

Miss Linsley, beside serving in full capacity as mentor for the English department, also finds time to sponsor the Junior Red Cross with numerous other teachers of this department supervising activity groups.

An extension of the literature department is the foreign language group consisting of courses in French, Latin, and Spanish. Students find a knowledge of one or more of these languages a foundation for a better understanding and appreciation of other peoples and their cultures, simultaneously preparing themselves for tomorrow's Lilliputian world in which to know another's language will be to comprehend a neighbor's conversation.

Miss Laura Wilson, who was ill during several months of the first and second semesters, was missed by the girls in her session room as well as her Latin students and the Latin club of which she was adviser.

The social sciences have gained greater prominence this war year with faculty members representing that group revising their usual curricula to include greater concentration on the current event topics. Courses in ancient, modern, world, American, and Pan-American history, civics and economics came striding to the fore telling their story of man's progress.

Defending with their lives the fundamentals of freedom and good government which they taught, members of the history division have left for duty in the various branches of the service and it is with Miss Elisabeth Knapp, Pan-American history instructor, is sponsor for the Senior Honor society and Public Affairs forum. History colleagues of Miss Knapp giving time to extra-curricular activities are Miss Dorothy Long, world history teacher and adviser for the Junior Girl reserves and Senior Student council; Miss Elizabeth Hines, instructor in American history and civics, serving as adviser for Senior Girl reserves; and Miss Zelda MacNaughton, sponsor of Junior Student council.

to young minds than perhaps any other unit of concentration. Teachers of this expansive field have been given the job of molding the constant inquisitiveness of youth into analytical thinking and they are not without success.

The study of chemistry and physics teaches fundamental facts underlying the behavior and uses of the substances composing the universe and the laws by which they are governed. Accordingly, biology, physiology, and general science take their individual places in this scientific world.

Mr. Mulder, besides receiving a certificate on behalf of the student body from Henry Morgenthau, Jr., Secretary of the United States Treasury, was also awarded a bronze statuette from the boy scouts of South High school. "Mulder Day," March 19, was climaxed with a two-hour assembly in which the two awards were presented.

Mr. William Stephenson, spending his first year teaching physiology, biology, and geography, at South, has left a deep impression of congeniality and imparted knowledge with his students. Mr. Stephenson came to South from Detroit where he taught

Miss Claire Walper and Mr. Jacob Brady, general science teachers and advisers for the senior class of 1943, gave generously of their time and talent throughout the year to guide the class over turbulent times.

Mr. Gail Patterson, boys' gym teacher, better known to Southites as "Pat", has put his boys through vigorous calisthenics this year in preparation for armed service roles. Pat also coached basketball and golf.

The mathematicians who are now weather bureau experts, architects, and engineers for Uncle Sam obtained their preliminary training from teachers of the science of mathematics. etry, and business arithmetic make up the chief components. Miss Mary Honecker, who taught underclass mathematics, left South at the beginning of the second semester to be employed by the United States Army Weather school.

The arts, creating beauty conceived of mind and hands, have given man the greatest joy he has ever known. Fortunate are students who have the opportunity to develop their talents under the direction of skilled instructors.

Senior high art classes, instructed by Miss Alice Vevia, were busy throughout the year supplying decorations for the senior session room, painting posters for innumerable activities, and painting scenery for the senior play. Miss Vevia, Miss Helen Williams, and Miss Kathreen Emery, composing the art department faculty, encouraged self expression in all work while giving lessons in watercolor, charcoal sketching, oil painting, and various other projects. Always considerate of the school's need for art work, they readily complied to the call for their services.

Mr. Glenn Litton, in charge of the instrumental department, can be caught at any moment while conducting or telling the history of a symphony and its composer with a twinkle in his eye, for he loves the music he is teaching as well as his pupils enjoy being the recipients of his instruction. He gave private lessons and conducted the junior and senior bands and orchestras, and the concert bands which provided music at football games, assemblies, and special programs.

Lyric poetry set and sung to music can best describe the melodious voices of Miss Bessie Lindley's mixed choruses and glee clubs. The annual Christmas concert, presented by Miss Lindley and the vocal department, was given for students and friends of South in two performances. Miss Lindley led the Alma Mater and Varsity in pep assemblies and the Star-Spangled Banner which was sung at nearly all student gatherings in the auditorium.

Dramatics and public speaking find their place in the arts with Miss Noreen LaBarge giving not just her classes but the entire school the benefit of the adroitness of her artistry. Miss LaBarge directed the senior play, "The Poor Nut", Thespian Club productions of which she is sponsor, the Flying Fortress campaign, and prepared dramatic projects whenever they were needed.

The home economics group combines practical experience with the art of expression. Miss Laura Moore divided her time between Red Cross work, supervising the lunch room, and teaching clothing; while Miss Sue Gross, personal regimen and clothing instructor, found her greatest pleasure in out-of-doors activity. Miss Dorothy DaLee, home economics teacher, responded to the call to the colors and joined the Waves at the termination of the first semester.

Members of the faculty who teach business subjects endeavor to prepare students to assume positions upon completion of their high school courses with typing, bookkeeping, shorthand, and retail selling the subjects taught in the department. Miss Virginia Wyatt, shorthand instructor, left South in February to become the bride of Second-lieutenant Alfred Hewitt.

The faculty, best and truest friends of every student, cease to give us their protection and guidance upon completion of the high school courses, but the ideals and knowledge which they have left in heart and mind will always be secure. It is for the passing parade of students to carry the torch which the men and women of this and thousands of other high schools have held through the ages, and by doing so, have lighted the way for education throughout the world.

The red glare produced by the juniors was very much in evidence throughout the year. The annual J-Hop, this year called Cupid's Cut-Up, was presented in the boy's gym on February 13. The scarlet decorations gave indication of the brightly colored sparkle which made up junior spirit. Several members "saw red" when it was decided that fifty cents dues would be collected. However, other activities brought the class "out of the red" and definitely put them "in the pink". These included the organization of the juniors, paddle pop sales, and the Junior-Senior Prom.

To keep "the bombs bursting in air" over enemy territory the sophomore class formed plans to participate in the bomber campaign during the second semester. Instead of aiming threatening snowballs at the enemy, this patriotc group strived to turn their snowballs into actual bombs by giving a box social where United States savings stamps were the price of admission. Not stopping with this, however, they worked continuously on, buying bonds and stamps in an all out effort for victory.

Under the capable leadership of their class officers, these energetic youngsters presented the "Hayloft Hop" on November 13, in place of the traditional sophomore "Skate Scramble". Working happily together, this talented group affected a well-planned evening of entertainment for all who attended, and their efforts were repaid by a glowing success. The music of Dale Demerest and his orchestra was featured with Jimmy Wilcox as caller and instructor for the three barn dances enjoyed by the guests.

The freshmen, little giants of the school, gave support to the school-wide activities. They took an active part in the bomber campaign and their support was an immense help. The freshmen gave proof that they were a class to be admired, a class that will continue to be outstanding throughout the years spent at South. They were also wholeheartedly behind the sports program. The junior high basketball team was made up of freshmen. Although they have remained somewhat in the background, they deserve credit for their splendid spirit.

ACTIVITY

The activity program which was initiated last year under Miss Marjorie Shepard's supervision was an integral part of the school curriculum this year. Miss Shepard, with the aid of Beth Grim, revised last year's program and added such activities as "Information, Please" under the direction of Miss Dorothy Young; the Newcomer's clubs under Miss Zelda MacNaughton and Miss Agnes Linsley; the Musical Review, directed by Rev. Phil Jenkins and Mr. Henry Mulder; and the Junior Speakers' bureau under the direction of Miss Elda Koehn. Perhaps the most popular and worthwhile in its results was the Junior Speakers' bureau which was on call for any school or community activities. The Employment service also was helpful by keeping records of students desiring work and by helping to place them in positions. The Puzzle club under Miss Clara Yntema's supervision created enjoyment for the students, while the hooked rug group, directed by Miss Olivia Demmon, brought real benefits for the participants. Those who did not wish to participate in any activity were assigned to study halls.

Another successful year of the South High band's activities was completed despite the reduction in membership caused by the government's request that junior and senior boys change from musical courses to pre-flight and pre-induction courses. In addition to these losses, several of the older members of the band left to join various branches of the armed services.

The South band participated enthusiastically in patriotic campaigns beginning in the summer when the entire band went to Cedar Springs to stimulate bond sales there. They also helped in campaigns at Burton Heights, at the Bomber Drive show, the concerts and assemblies at school. "Buy Bonds", the U.S.A., and an American flag were patriotic formations done in conjunction with other schools. These received special attention at football games in the fall.

The organization elected as their officers: James Blackmer, president; Darwin Pickle, vice-president; James Seino, secretary; David Dutcher, treasurer, and Mr. Glenn Litton, adviser.

The big event of the year for the senior orchestra was their spring concert on April 6. It came as the climax of the work of two enjoyable semesters. As evidence of the players' musicianship, three solos were featured. Norine Vandervelde played the first movement of Mozart's "Concerto in A Major for the Violin". Phyllis Perry sang "Ill Bacio" by Arditi and played a flute solo, "Syrnx" by Debussy. This selection was extremely unusual because it was played in complete darkness. Both soloists were members of the Grand Rapids Symphony orchestra. Other South High orchestra musicians playing in the symphony during the year were Al French and Clyde Hendee.

The senior orchestra itself was under the direction of Mr. Glenn Litton. Although made smaller by war losses, the orchestra was a very active group. It played for a number of assemblies and furnished music for several evening programs.

Special attention was given during rehearsals to the string instruments; numbers were played that were arranged for the strings only. As a result, a great improvement was heard during the year in the quality of tone in the violin and cello sections.

Norene Vandervelde was concert mistress and Mr. Litton, the conductor.

FRENCH CLUB

SPANISH CLUB

Sitting: Jean Buter, Mr. Swenson, Edwinna Feldhaus.
Standing: Pat Burch, Jane Mosher, Dorothy Keller.

FRENCH CLUB

Le Cercle Francaise, known as the French club, was sponsored by Mr. Ludwig Swenson for students who wished to practice conversational French, learn the customs of the French people, study French music and prehistoric art through the use of phonograph records.

This year the group was much smaller, but remained active, giving parties based on French customs at Christmas and throughout the year.

The officers for Le Cercle Francaise were Edwinna Feldhaus, president; Jane Mosher, vice-president; Dorothy Keller, secretary; Jean Buter, treasurer; and Mr. Swenson, adviser.

SPANISH CLUB

The Spanish club was organized in the winter of 1941 under the leadership of Dr. Carl Williams.

To stimulate interest in the Spanish-speaking countries of the world, the members played Spanish records and read the Spanish Reader's Digest at the meetings, which took place the first and third week of the activity period.

Paddle pops were sold after school to raise money for rising expenses.

The officers were Margaret Hardenbol, president; Bob Brady, vice-president; Gwen Walker, secretary; Ward Thurston, treasurer; and Mr. Ludwig Swenson, adviser.

Sitting: Doris Hitchcock, Jane Michel, Miss Anton.
Standing: Sylvia Meier, Barbara Brown, Ray Shinn.

Row One: Lucille Dykstra, Margaret Switous, Peggy Sandro, Maxine Blink, Don Miedema, Miss Yntema.
Row Two: Georgian Switous, Emigail Lilly, Antoinette Campbell, Mary Lewis, Lucille Fabbro, David Dutcher, Dick Bronk, Dick Krenz.

LATIN CLUB

Under the impressive name of Socalitas Latina, the members of the Latin club carried on their regular business without their usual sponsor, Miss Laura Wilson, who was unable to advise them because of her illness. They proceeded efficiently under the capable direction of Miss Clara Yntema, the temporary adviser.

Listing all South students and alumni who entered the armed forces was their outstanding project for the year.

The officers were Peggy Sandro, president; Maxine Blink, vice-president; Margaret Switous, secretary; and Donald Miedema, treasurer.

QUILL AND SCROLL

The Quill and Scroll club, an honorary journalistic society, was organized in 1926. The South chapter was started in 1939.

The purpose of the Quill and Scroll was to provide an incentive for creative writing and to give recognition to outstanding high school journalists.

In addition to the noon business meetings an induction party for the six new members was held in April.

The officers for this club were Jane Michel, president; Barbara Brown, vice-president; Sylvia Meier, secretary; Doris Hitchcock, treasurer and Miss Thelma Anton, adviser.

SENIOR GIRL RESERVES

Row One: Miss Hines, Phyllis Knee, Mary Ellen Johnson, Joann Wegal, Jo Ellen Litton, Martha Cnristiancy, Joan Meyer, Jackie Cain, Stella Limber, Virginia Gazan, Beverly Buckham.

This year was very successful for the Senior Girl Reserves because of their participation in so many activities. Early in the year the girls waited on tables at the Pantlind hotel during the War Chest drive. At Christmas time a banquet was held at the YWCA for Girl Reserves all over the city and county, with Martha Christiancy presiding. Also in December, the Girl Reserves and the Hi-Y jointly sponsored the second annual Yule Jump.

They did much to add to their financial status by selling paddle pops at football games and checking coats at basketball games.

These activities carried out the motto of the club — to create better feeling among girls and to improve their spiritual, mental, and physical life.

The four Ring Girl meetings, held early in the spring, were attended by ten girls from South. Religion, health, and vocations were discussed at the meetings. The girls who attended all of the meetings were eligible to purchase Girl Reserve jewelry at the end of the lectures.

The officers were Martha Christiancy, president; Jo Ellen Litton, vice-president; Joann Meyer, secretary; Joann Wegal, treasurer; and Jackie Cain, Interclub Council representative. Miss Elizabeth Hines was the adviser.

MIXED CHORUS

Row Two Madeline Kane, Jeanne Beatty, Lucille Collier, Paula Hunting, Evelyn Witte, Lois Botma, Helen Thomas, Doris Hartman, Marian Beckett, Elizabeth Backett, Gloria Sterken, Norma Sjaarda, Emma Cooley, Nadine Miller, June Houtman, Katheryn Skougis, Betsy Crawford.

Row Three: Marie Grifhorst, Sally West, LaVonne Kronberg, Mary Garbrecht, Marilyn Losgar, Wilda Saurman, Pat Huber, Helen Clark, Bonnie Stelma, Miss Lindley, Evelyn Woltjers, Mary Muir, Marjorie Bourterse, Betty Slawson, Joan Vander Heide, Marion Karcher, Helen Wright, Belva Cunningham, Jean Beebe.

Row Four: Doris Hudson, Jackie Walker, Bernard Mitchell, Gerald Fitzgerald, George Goss, Kenneth VanDyk, Bernard Rienks, Edward Meyers, Bob Johns, Don Creswell, David De Witt, John Myszak, Vernon Haan, Tony Gueriero, Keith Fitzgerald, Don Edgerle, Jeanne Schripsema, Gerry Williams.

The Senior Mixed chorus participated in many of the school activities during the 1942-43 year.

The Christmas concert called "Bethlehem Neighbors", held in December, was given by the Mixed chorus and was directed by Miss Bessie Lindley. Christmas selections were sung and colored slides which illustrated them added much to the success of the presentation. The chorus also sang Joyce Kilmer's "Trees". The Christmas tree, which was put up and decorated by the members of the chorus was financed entirely by them, through the sale of paddle pops and South caps and pins.

An experiment in "school sings" was held April 16 with all the students participating. The "sing" carried out the theme of "America, the Beautiful" with colored slides depicting it. The students also sang other patriotic songs of the nation. Miss Lindley had enthusiastic plans for future school "sings".

The Mixed chorus sang for the P. T. A. at their Founders' Day tea.

The annual All-City concert was held May 12 at the South auditorium, with the South Mixed chorus taking an active part.

The accompianists for the chorus were Mary Garbrecht, June Houtman, LaVonne Kronberg and June MacGregor. Miss Lindley was the director.

USHERS' CLUB

Row One: Miss Linsley, Jeanne Schripsema, Lorraine Kronberg, Margaret Switous, Helen Richards, LaVonne Kronberg, Georgian Switous, Jeanne Pummill.
Row Two: Mary Russo, Caroline Dood, Shirley Crisler, Jo Anne Wiles, Bettylou Dillenbeck, Patricia Wellbeloved, Grace Koenes, Tony Guerrierio.
Row Three: Janette Keslar, Yvonne Hurley, Dorothy Konyndiek, Benny Caruso, Clair De Glopper, Lyle Gilleo, Thressa Switous, Emigail Lilly.

First Row: Gene Johnson, Bob DeRidder, Duane Miller, Pete Morello, Jack Baughman, Gerald Anderson, Warren Spry, Gordon Burnett, Dick Bronk, Steve Amato.
Second Row: Harold Howay, Gordon Rehnke, Bob Blazer, Herb Witman, Jack Zuiderveld, Marvin McLeod, Carl Green, Henry Fleer, Harold Clay.

The 1942-1943 roll call was the largest in the history of South High, with 1,630 members. The members made gifts for the Little Sisters of the Poor, sent eight Christmas boxes to England, and took jams and jellies to a home for the aged.

The officers were La Vonne Kronberg, president; Helen Richards, vice-president; Margaret Switous, secretary; Georgian Switous, treasurer; and Miss Agnes Linsley, adviser.

USHERS' CLUB

The work of the Ushers' club was very much in evidence this year as members worked to prevent confusion and eliminate safety hazards by conducting the passing of students to and from assemblies.

The officers for the first and second semesters respectively were Don Weekly, Warren Spry, president; Jack Zuiderveld, Jack Baughman, vice-president; Warren Spry, Bob De Ridder, secretary; Roy Taylor, Bob De Ridder, treasurer; and Mr. William Stephenson.

TROJAN CAMERA CLUB
JUNIOR GIRL RESERVES

Row One: Mildred Parks, Nancy Burns, Walter Clark, Charles Dutchess, Eleanor Klein, Miss Stokoe.
Row Two: Kenneth Whittington, Maxine Blink, Edward Meyers, Eugene Mendels, Lucille Dykstra, John Nienhuis.
Row Three: Betty Hall, David Harmer, Robert McFadyen, Juanita Fitzpatrick, Leonard Slaughter.

Row Two: Marian Broder, Betty Ann Wing, Clara Rose, Geraldine Phelps, Wilda Saurman, Nadine Miller, Helen Clark, Doris Lyon, Maellen Rathbone, Grace Lyon, Norma La Huis.
Row Three: Norma Butler, Georgia Tardy, Doris Sjaarda, Erline Rienks, June Houtman, Leona Luxford, Betty Tetroe, Maxine House, Mary McLachlan, Patricia Gilner, Jo Anne Wiles, Miss Long.

JUNIOR GIRL RESERVES

The Junior Girl Reserves club was organized to teach girls the American way of living and how to appreciate their American heritage.

Packing correspondence kits, attending first aid classes and contributing to the Community Chest were their main activities for this year.

The Inter-Club council, composed of representatives of Junior Girl Reserve clubs from all the schools, discussed the entire group's activities.

South's officers were Nadine Miller, president; Helen Clark, vice-president; Doris Lyon, secretary; Wilda Saurman, treasurer; and Miss Dorothy Long, adviser.

TROJAN CAMERA CLUB

The Trojan Camera club has been especially affected by war restrictions on material. It has been increasingly difficult to obtain film, flash bulbs, and other new equipment necessary to their program for taking and developing better pictures.

Club members entered monthly contests, taking pictures of assigned subjects. The best pictures were shown in the school corridors.

The club was under the direction of Charles Dutchess, president; Walter Clark, vice-president; Nancy Burns, secretary; Eleanor Klein, treasurer, and Miss Ruth Stokoe, adviser.

Row Two: Miss Koehn, Eleanor Bendekgey, Joyce Lehan, Nadine Miller, Loren Houtman, James Williams, Leona Luxford, Miss MacNaughton.

The Junior Student council, composed of 30 members, had meetings Thursdays during the noon hour. In the meetings the members tried to solve the problems which pertained to the lower grades as well as prove that good student government can be instituted in junior high school.

The council helped in many of the school-wide activities. Helping Miss Clare Walper and the Junior Honor society with the tin can drive, and Mr. Henry Mulder in the Bomber campaign, proved that junior student government was a worthwhile organization.

In room 302 a Junior High Games room was originated to occupy the time of the students during the noon hour. The Junior Honor society took charge of the distribution of the tickets to the games room. This new feature proved to be a great success.

A junior high orientation program was carried out through the cooperation of the students and faculty under the excellent supervision of Miss Marjorie Shepard.

The council, which was in its third year of existence, was ably led by James Williams, president; Loren Houtman, vice president; Nadine Miller, secretary; Leona Luxford, treasurer; and Miss Elda Koehn and Miss Zelda MacNaughton, advisers for the group.

SENIOR STUDENT COUNCIL

Row Two: Harold Clay, Bob Carrier, Kent Esbaugh, Dave Dutcher, Tony Guerriero, Carl Beyerhelm, Mr. Buckham.

Row Three: Lois Cox, Vivian VanderLeest, Winona Kimmel, Billye Noggles, Shirley Peterson, Lois Wright.

The Senior Student council tried, through the many projects it sponsored this past year, to accomplish greater cooperation between the students and the faculty. In an effort to do this the student council carried out the most ambitious project that South High school ever attempted by selling over $375,000 in war stamps and bonds to raise money to buy a bomber called the Spirit of South High. This Flying Fortress was brought to Grand Rapids airport and christened April 6.

In the fall the council started to present noon dances every other day during the week. These dances featured the music of some popular orchestra each time, played on records in the nickeleodeon the council bought during the winter.

The council also revised the honor point system in the second semester and by this method chose the ten seniors most active during their years at South High. Those seniors were presented with gold keys at the Class Day exercises.

John Frewen acted as the group's president in the first semester but was later replaced by Dick Markham. Ray Shinn was vice-president; Dot Strong, secretary; Mary Russo, treasurer. The faculty advisers were Miss Dorothy Long and Mr. Harold Buckham.

HI-Y CLUB

BARS AND CHEVRONS

Row One: Phil Stirdivant, Warren Spry, Bob Blazer, Corny Frens, Gordon Burnett, Andy Limber.
Row Two: Art Vorenkamp, Roger Gosling, Dick Krenz, Mr. LeValley, Jack Zuiderveld, Harold Clay.

Row Two: Arthur Sack, Robert Traster, Don McDonald, Clare Ingham, David Verburg, Merlin Giddings, Jim Berry, Warren Spry.
Row Three: Louis Schaaf, Jack Zuiderveld, Philip Kilmer, Joe Rau, Fred Milhaupt, Ward Thurston, Don Berry, Leonard Slaughter, John Neinhuis.

HI-Y

The main activity of the Hi-Y this year was a dance, the Yule Jump, given in collaboration with the Girl Reserves in December, which featured a patriotic war-bond rally.

The club did its part in sponsoring the Coed Nights at the YMCA and YWCA, and decorating the goal posts at football games.

The officers who presided at the noon hour meetings during the first and second semester, respectively, were Corny Frens, Bob Blazer, president; Bob Blazer, Warren Spry, vice-president; Dick Krenz, Phil Stirdivant, secretary; and Andy Limber, Gordon Burnett, treasurer. Mr. Roy LeValley advised the club.

BARS AND CHEVRONS

Bars and Chevrons was made up of commissioned and non-commissioned officers and the sponsors.

The Military Ball, which was held in November, at the South gym, was a stunning success as the girls wore formals and the fellows from companies all over the city wore their uniforms.

The offices in this club, which were held by non-commissioned officers, were filled by Bob Beaudette, president; John Zylstra, vice-president; Jean Endsley, secretary; Barbara Witter, treasurer; Dick Wood, sergeant-at-arms; and Sgt. Joseph Gaberdiel, adviser for the group.

The war affected the ROTC by increasing the membership and making the companies the largest they had ever been; however, uniforms were not available for all and rifles were given up for army use.

Although drill work, map reading, and calisthenics occupied much of the time, Field day, at which companies all over the city competed for awards, and Federal inspection were the two big events this past year. The corps also posted colors at many assemblies, football and basketball games while students saluted the flag and sang the national anthem.

EDITORIAL TATTLER BUSINESS

Sitting: Gerald Anderson, Jane Michel, Ray Shinn, Doris Hitchcock.
Standing: Winona Kimmel, Corinne Van Dommelen, Lynn Bradshaw, Pat McHoskey, Bob Blazer, Don Hill, Doris Diedrich, Dorothy Dunn, Jackie Sederling.

TATTLER EDITORIAL STAFF

The Tattler, newspaper of South High, was a definite factor in influencing the school lives of students through its editorials and accounts of school activities.

The staff met daily to discuss, write, and edit the material used in the paper which was scheduled for publication every two weeks.

Ray Shinn was editor-in-chief; Doris Hitchcock, news editor; Bruce Williamson, assistant news editor; Gerald Anderson, sports editor; Dorothy Bradshaw, advertising; Kent Backart, distribution, and Miss Thelma Anton and Miss Theone Conklin, the faculty advisers.

TATTLER BUSINESS STAFF

Behind all publications, there is the problem of making money to pay for printing, paper, and engraving.

This year, as in other years, a little more than half as much of the money that was needed was earned through the sale of subscriptions.

The rest of the money was made by paddle pop sales and advertising.

Advertising was solicited by Dorothy Bradshaw, Doreen Van Dyke, Nancy Burns, Erna Plag, Barbara Herb and Merlin Giddings.

The distribution staff circulated the papers to the possessors of Tattler-Spectra cards the seventh hour on Thursdays.

Sitting: Lois Wright, Eleanor Sack, Sylvia Meier, Mary Ellen Johnson.
Standing: Dorothy Bradshaw, Martha Bullock, Bill Olson, Nancy Burns, Barbara Brown, Carolyn Ruoss, Beth Grim, Pat Stahl, Bob Keena, Dot Strong, Margaret Krueger, Dick Bronk, Pat Burch, Martha Christiancy, Lois Ritzema, Don White, Phyllis Sullivan, Helen Belden.
Sitting: Yvonne Cillers, Beverly Thompson, Evelynne Blake, LaVonne Kronberg.
Row Two: Bi'ly Backus, Art Van Heulen, Mary Russo, Jean Beatty, Marjorie Hilborn, Eva Rose, Joyce Phillips, Joan Mead, Carmen Dowson.
Row Three: Shirley Peterson, Joann Wegal, Ardythe Swartz, Jackie Rozenga, Joan Nicholson, Ruth Erickson, Bill Barnes, Bill Moyer.

TATTLER-SPECTRA SALESMEN

Instead of having the editorial staff sell the Tattler-Spectra cards this year, a person was chosen in each session room to collect the money.

Those circulators were introduced in a horse-opera assembly in which Elloweeze, a wooden nag, played the dashing mount of the hero, "Sweet William".

A "horse race" was also staged in which the circulators tried for the honor of selling the most subscriptions. The winner, Joann Wegal, received two tickets to a football game as a prize.

The general managers of the entire circulation staff were Dick Bronk and Kent Backart.

SPECTRA STAFF

Early in the year the Spectra staff found that diligence was going to be necessary to uphold the standards of the former peacetime Spectras because of problems of production. A printer and engraver were chosen early, and work was done as soon as possible.

The sales campaign carried out by two staffs used the "horse", Elloweeze, which stimulated the purchase of Tattler-Spectra cards by participating actively in school affairs.

The staff was under the capable direction of Sylvia Meier, editor-in-chief and Miss Virginia Wyatt and Miss Elda Koehn, the advisers.

DEBATE TEAM
PUBLIC AFFAIRS FORUM

Sitting: Gladys Linseth, Mr. DeKoster.
Standing: Andy Fotias, Jim Ver Lee, George Goss, Warren Spry.

Row One: Miss Knapp, Lois Wright, Sylvia Meier, Beth Grim, Margaret Krueger.
Row Two: Bob Darcangelo, Carl Beyerhelm, Dorothy Bradshaw, Marjorie Toogood, Gladys Lindseth, George Goss, Don Hill.

DEBATE TEAM

Resolved: that a post-war federated world organization should be established after the war.

On this question a Town Hall meeting was held at which Jim Ver Lee, Gladys Lindseth, Warren Spry, and George Goss presented their plans for peace, and Andrew Fotias acted as announcer.

The squad did not enter the state league but took an active part in the city league. Doing all their reference and practice work after school and using the tactics they had learned from Mr. Lester De Koster, their coach, the squad debated with the teams of Central, Ottawa, Tech, and Union.

PUBLIC AFFAIRS FORUM

Diligently studying booklets sent out by the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, the members of the Public Affairs forum met Thursday afternoons to do their part in planning post-war peace. Those particularly interested in the project prepared for the examination sent by that organization which offered as first prize a four year scholarship to the university of the winner's choice

The officers for this year were Sylvia Meier, president; Edwin Cain, vice-president; Beth Grim, secretary; Lois Wright, treasurer; and Miss Elisabeth Knapp, adviser.

ALUMNI ORGANIZATION
PARENT-TEACHER ASSOCIATION

Mr. Steg Lignell, Mr. Bernard Cary, Mr. Ralph Truax, Mr. Arthur Barnes, Mrs. Alice Loomis.

Row One: Mrs. Dean Wood, Mrs. Carl Huber, Mrs. Edwin Marcroft, Mrs. Harry Stringham.
Row Two: Mrs. S. S. Heslinga, Mrs. Leon Hendee, Mrs. Gerrit Welmers, Mrs. Earl Saurman, Mrs. Jack Mc Lachlan.

PARENT-TEACHER ASSOCIATION

The theme of the P.T.A. was "Service Where You Are". The main event of the year was the Community dinner, November 12, with Open House following. They also sponsored the Christmas musical, December 10, under the direction of Miss Bessie Lindley, the Founders' day tea, the spring tea, and the Saturday night dances held at school during the spring months.

Mrs. Carl Huber was president; Mrs. Dean Wood, vice-president; Mrs. Edwin Marcroft, recording secretary; Mrs. Harry Stringham, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Ernest Esbaugh, treasurer.

ALUMNI ORGANIZATION

The main event of the year for the alumni was the homecoming game played with Flint Northern in October with a dance at the Rowe hotel following. The variety show, the Shambles, was made up entirely of alumni talent and was ushered by the senior girls.

The members were very active in the Bomber campaign. They also sponsored the guidance tests given to help students choose their vocations.

Mr. Bernard Cary was the president; Mr. Ralph Truax, vice-president; Mrs. Alice Loomis, recording secretary; Miss Geraldine Gibbs, corresponding secretary; and Mr. Carroll Saurman, treasurer.

MAUDE FULLER CLUB

Row Two: Georgian Switous, Dorothy Poe, Juanita Iacovoni, Grace Koenes, Antoinette Campbell, Betty Metzler, Corinne Van Dommelen, Jean Pummill, LaVerne Karrip, Lois Corder, Margaret Switous, Marjorie Toogood.

Sixteen years ago, under the direction of Miss Maude Fuller, who was a pioneer in the field of home economics and the first teacher of that subject in Grand Rapids, the Maude Fuller Home Economic club was formed. Its main purpose was to promote friendship among the girls in home economic classes in both school and social life.

Today, with Miss Laura Moore acting as sponsor, the club is still doing that which it started out to do.

This spring the club presented a style show which illustrated twenty different styles of dresses which could be worn on all occasions.

To help other people, the members made little toy animals for the crippled children in the Mary Free-bed home.

Afghan squares were made from scraps of yarn for the Junior Red Cross.

In the way of entertainment, club members attended a hayride which proved to be a very successful affair.

The following girls were the officers who managed the business and made the outline of the activities of the club: Emigail Lilly, president; Marjorie Bouterse, vice-president; Norma Demerest, secretary; and Evelynne Blake, treasurer. Miss Moore sponsored the club.

HOME ROOM COUNCIL

Row One: Joyce Musgrove, Herb Witman, Dick Krenz, Bill Blow, Doreen Van Dyke, Gladys Lindseth.
Pow Two: Loraine Hynes, Jane Witter, Jim Masterson, Marjorie Grant, Pat Mc Hoskey.

The Home Room council, despite its small membership of twelve, was one of the most active organizations in the school the past year.

Its members took charge of putting up Hallowe'en, Thanksgiving, Christmas, and February holiday decorations, which the students enjoyed so much. They also presented several original skits at holiday times.

With the money they made through paddle pop sales, small collections at roll call, and dues from the members, the council purchased records that were played at noon in the senior session room.

The members made the announcements at roll call, and frequently launched campaigns for the seniors to clean their desks. Bill Blow had charge of these campaigns.

The Key Kampaign and the Tin Can Drive, which took place the first semester, were taken care of in room 235 by the council. The War Stamp booth in the front of the senior session room was presided over by two of the members.

The council met every other Wednesday afternoon with Dick Krenz as president; Bill Blow, vice-president; Doreen Van Dyke, secretary; and Herb Witman, treasurer. Mr. Percy Churm was the adviser.

VARSITY CLUB

Row One: Mr. Brady, John Davidovitch, Jerry Meyers, Andy Limber, Pete Morello, Gerald Anderson, Bob Keena, John Bigford, Roland Olson, Jim Masterson, Gerald Fitzgerald.

Row Two: Dick VanderLende, Bob DeRidder, Tom Russell, Bob Collins, Duane Miller, Horace Schenk, Tom Meyer, Adrian Morren, Bob Bright, Roger Hondorp, Don White, Merritt Patterson, Homer Hall, Norman Woudstra, Norman Taylor.

Row Three: Jim Lehan, Dick Norgrove, Wallace Norgrove, Gordon Fessenden, Tony Giammona, Jim Andrus, Jack Zuiderveld, Bob Taylor, Fred Kelley, Corny Frens, Al Koning, Al Schulz, Gordon Rehnke, Art England, Warren Spry, Joe Spicuzza, Herbert Hinkley.

The Varsity club was composed of boys who won their major letters in various sports throughout their high school career.

This honorary organization had as its aims the betterment of scholarship, excellence in athletics, and the betterment of feeling among the athletes.

Their yearly social affair, "The Trojan Trot," was successfully held in the boys' gym the evening of March 6 with Dick Snook's orchestra supplying the music.

The members made plans to write to former Varsity club members now in the service of their country and sold paddle pops at basketball games.

Mr. Alvin Vanderbush, the former football and baseball coach, and adviser for the Varsity club, received his call in January to go to Princeton university to attend officers' training school prior to active sea duty.

At the time of the death of Arlo Christenson, former Varsity club member and active South High student, the club contributed flowers for the funeral.

The officers for the year included Bob Keena, president; John Bigford, vice-president; Gerald Anderson, secretary-treasurer; and Roland Olson, sergeant-at-arms. Mr. Jacob Brady took over the position of adviser.

SENIOR HONOR SOCIETY

Row One: Lucille Dykstra, Marjorie Toogood, Jean Pummill, Ardythe Swartz, Warren Spry, Doris Diedrich, Al Koning, Miss Knapp.

Row Two: Doris Roodvoets, Ray Shinn, Barbara Brown, Jane Michel, Harold Clay, Norman Woudstra, James Berry, Jack Zuiderveld.

Row Three: Carol Bommelje, Sylvia Meier, Eleanor Klein, Fred Milhaupt, Maxine Blink, Vern Austin, LaVerne Karrip.

The Senior Honor society represented that group of students who recognized the importance of study as a basis for making the country in which they lived a working, breathing democracy. The qualifications for membership characterized fairly well the purpose and ideals of the club. Each member, chosen by the faculty, besides maintaing high scholarship and good citizenship, needed to be dependable, honest, and have a pleasing personality and initiative.

The four ideals of the club, leadership, scholarship, service, and character, were brought out in the formal initiations of new members which were held twice yearly.

Under the supervision of Miss Elisabeth Knapp, the club sent letters to alumni of South who were in the armed services. The chairman of the activity was Al Koning, while Marjorie Toogood, Vern Austin, and Eleanor Klein helped to keep a record of the correspondence.

The members also took charge of classrooms and study halls when the faculty thought it necessary.

An extensive campaign to promote returning books to the library was conducted, with Eleanor Klein in charge of the drive.

The officers for the year were Warren Spry, president; Doris Diedrich, vice-president; Ardythe Swartz, secretary; All Koning, treasurer; and Miss Knapp, adviser.

COMMERCIAL LAW CLUB

First Row (kneeling): Homer Hall, Eldron Brown, Shirley Elenbaas, Helen Chandler, Norma Demerest, Helen Belden, Sue Oxford, Loraine Kruys-Voorberge, Margaret Switous, LaVerne Karrip, Dorothy Bradshaw, Lucille Fabbro, Peggy Sandro, Gerald Anderson, Kent Backart.

The Commercial Law club was composed of the students in Mr. Elisha Fisher's commercial law classes. Because this group contained a large majority of seniors, the club decided as its objective to help the senior class and South High school in any activity which they might attempt.

At the meetings, which were held during the first and third weeks of the activity period, trick decisions of law were discussed, versions were given on difficult case problems, and any subjects which had remained unsettled in class were explained by Mr. Fisher. Money for the treasury was earned by several successful sales after school.

The rise in membership this year was accounted for by the increasing popularity of commercial law as a class, and by the increasing demand on the public to understand the elements of contracts, and relationship of partners, the liability of sellers, and the essentials of negotiable instruments.

Despite the large size of the club, it was capably led by Jack Baughman, president, and Bud Laramy, vice-president. Pat Bell acted as secretary-treasurer the first semester and Juanita Iacovoni, the second semester.

THESPIANS

Row One (sitting on floor): Jo Ellen Litton, Phyllis Perry, Georgian Switous, Margaret Krueger, Sylvia Meier, Beth Grim, Lois Writ, Margaret Switous, Barbara Brown, Pat Stahl.

Row Two: Jackie Cain, Shirley Waterman, Jane Michel, Doris Diedrich, Elaine Reynolds, Joyce Edson, Jack Zuiderveld, Miss LaBarge, Shirley Peterson, Shirley Elenbaas, Elaine Wieland, Harriet Hartesveldt.

Row Five: Art Vorenkamp, Bob Stringham, Herb Witman, Gene Johnson, Pete Morello, Gerald Anderson, Duane Miller, Ray Shinn, Dick Markham, Warren Spry, Marvin McLeod, Gordon Rehnke, Kent Backart.

Row Six: Arno Marsh, Don Holst, Carl Van Dommelen, Bob De Ridder, Bob Blazer, Corny Frens, Kent Esbaugh.

The Thespian club, under the direction of Miss Noreen LaBarge, had a very active year. It was also a year of many innovations and dissensions from the regular scheduled events.

The senior play, of which a large part of the cast was composed of Thespian members, was given in December. The Thespian members made sets, helped in the costuming, and applied makeup.

On Washington's birthday, Thespians presented a patriotic skit to show how money was raised for the wars in which this country has engaged.

For the bomber show, Thespian members wrote, directed and acted in a show entitled, "A Dollar Bill Talks".

These were merely preliminary to the principle activity, the Thespian plays. In former years, one long play had been given, but this year plans were made to produce four short plays, "Sham", "Submerged", Tobacco Alley", and "The Boor". These plays were to be presented at South and at other schools.

Thespians pins were also purchased in the second semester to identify members.

Officers for the year were Jack Zuiderveld, president; Shirley Peterson, vice-president; Doris Diedrich, secretary; Joyce Edson, treasurer; and Miss La Barge, adviser. Gerry Lovell acted as secretary during the second semester.

BOMBER DAY, APRIL 6, 1943

Ready for the balloons to go up.

Our principal speaks.

Just about to take off.

Feature personalities of the day.

Quite a crowd, isn't it?

Camp Fire Girls on parade.

Colonel Black and Colonel Foulk.

Dearl Hilliker, a bed-ridden enthusiast.

The queen and her jeep.

A birds'eye vew of "it".

The "spirits" behind the drive.

WEALTHY HEIGHTS PRINTING CO.

THANK YOU,

PATRONS
